

WALL STREET.
On Chicago to-day wheat was quiet and firm. The cotton market was heavy and lower.

MONEY THREE TO SEVEN PER CENT.
The money market was more active, with a general advance in the rates of interest. The banks early in the day marked up their loans on stock collateral to five per cent, and this rate paid readily accepted, borrowers later in the day paid six and seven per cent currency, and in some instances, seven per cent gold. This last mentioned rate is equivalent to fully eight per cent currency. Before this activity was precipitated many of the best known stock houses had obtained the money at as low as four per cent. On the other hand, lenders on government securities were fully content with three per cent, and many of the leading dealers in government bonds had balances left with them at three per cent. There were, however, no transactions below three per cent. The activity, while attributed in great part to speculative manipulation in connection with operations in the Stock Exchange, was due chiefly to the calling of loans by the agents of two of the Canadian banks, who, apprehending trouble from the interference of the District Attorney on the ground of alleged usurious charges for the use of gold, withdrew their gold from circulation and were at the same time compelled to call for currency from its employment with the stock brokers. The greater volume of loans in connection with this double transaction explains the sudden turn in the interest rate toward the close of banking hours.

Prime commercial paper was naturally less salable, but the nominal rates were without essential change.

Foreign exchange was utterly demoralized by a renewal of the "squeeze" in cash gold, and prime sixty-day sterling bills sold at as low as 108 for "cash," although this is hardly a fair rate to quote. The market fluctuated with the gold loan market, and rates were lower by just the proportion that the rates in the latter were above the dividing line of "dat."

GOLD STRONG—114 1/2 A 115.
The clique in the gold market pressed their advantage over the short interest by advancing the price from 114 1/2 to 115 and exacting terms for the use of cash gold ranging from 3-1/2 to 1/2 per cent. In other words, brokers dealing gold for deliveries 60-day had to pay $7 1/2 to $80 for the use of each $100,000 gold borrowed for that object, the accommodation lending of course, only the difference. The same rates were further exacted indirectly by the less questionable process of selling the gold for "cash" 3/4 a 1/2 per cent above the market and buying it back "regular" at the market. These transactions do not appear in our table below, which is a transcript of the official record of the Board, wherein cognizance is taken only of "regular" sales, or sales consummated the day following the transaction. In fact, the reputed agents of the clique were careful to use this plan almost exclusively; but a majority of the business of the day was done in the ordinary manner, only that lenders were more cautious, in view of the threats of legal proceedings on the score of usury, made their loans in whispers, and in many instances solicited confidential treatment by the borrower, the promise of which was ratified by an occasional shaking of hands. The interpolation of these incidents in the usually matter-of-fact routine of the Gold Room was a touch of human nature which, if it did not make the "bulls" and "bears" akin, enlivened the drama in gold. The price of gold had been steadily maintained for some time in the early part of the afternoon at 114 1/2 a 115, but toward three o'clock it was rumored that the Secretary of the Treasury had intended to make his gold sale to-morrow, simultaneously with the sale of the same, and as the amount to be disposed of was likely to be enlarged indefinitely there was a sudden reaction to 114 1/2. Inquiry at the Sub-Treasury elicited the statement that as yet no orders had been received to change the programme, but the information was substituted that Mr. Boutwell was expected in town and at the Sub-Treasury during the course of Wednesday forenoon. On this gold again advanced to 114 1/2-115. The course of the market is shown in the table:

30 A. M.	114 1/2	1 P. M.	114 1/2
11 A. M.	114 1/2	3 P. M.	114 1/2
11 1/2 A. M.	114 1/2	5 P. M.	114 1/2
12 30 P. M.	114 1/2	5 30 P. M.	114 1/2
12 45 P. M.	115	5 45 P. M.	114 1/2

The operations of the Gold Exchange Bank are as follows:

The gold loan market opened at 3-16, advanced to  $\frac{1}{2}$ , and closed at 3-32—all for borrowing. After three o'clock  $\frac{1}{4}$  and  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent were paid for the use of gold to-morrow, and the latter figure continued to be bid up to the adjournment of the Gold Room.

GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.
The government bond market was steady in currency values, but underwent a sharp decline in gold values. The 1862's were selling at 115 1/2, with gold at 115. Allowing for the pending coupon these bonds were freely offered at a discount of 2 1/2 per cent over their par in gold. These are the issues which Mr. Boutwell intends redeeming at their full par in gold on the 1st of December prox. The winner this difference the greater the profit of the syndicate. The foreign bankers were selling governments and buying gold and exchange. The following were the closing rates, 115 1/2 a 115 1/2, do., 1861, registered, 117 1/2 a 117 1/2, do., coupon, 118 1/2 a 118 1/2, do., 1862, registered, 119 1/2 a 119 1/2, do., coupon, 120 1/2 a 120
